

Dear FCC, My husband has been a truck driver for several years now. The instant Traffic and Weather that he receives from XM Satellite Radio has helped him greatly. He can see what is ahead down the road and just lately has helped him avoid bad weather. You would be hurting the truckers if you take this away. My husband doesn't have the time while driving down the road to search through the regular radio band to find a station that just might be talking about it. The ability just to hit on button on his XM Radio to see what is happening makes it safer for him than the other drivers around him. If you allow this to happen you will be regulating just one more thing from the trucking industry.
